Look Again at the Han River

The area around Han river, where people lived together in the community from the ancient times, has been at the center of history from Werye Castle in Baekje Kingdom, the Capital of Hanyang in Chosun Kingdom, and Seoul in the present in the Korean Peninsula. The Han River has been flowing together with the breath of our nation until now. The name of Han River has been called in many different ways according to times. It was called 'Daesu(a strap of water)' in the initial era of the Three Kingdoms and 'Arisu' in Goguryeo as it surrounded the waist of Korean Peninsula like a strap. Since Baekje called the river 'Hansu' thereafter, it was named Hansu or the current name 'Hangang' (Han River). 'Hangang' originated from our Korean language 'Hangaram', of which 'Han' means 'large, wide and long' and 'Garam' is an ancient word of a river. 'Hangang' has been used all together as a meaning of a large and wide river.
The Han River flows from Geomryongso, a valley to the north of Mt. Geumdae (1,418m) in Changjuk-dong, Taebaek-si, Gangwon Province. At Paldang Lake, it joins Bukhan River, which flows from Okbalbong, Geumgang-gun, Gangwon Province (North Korea). Then at the mouth of Han River again, it joins Imjin River which flows from Mt. Duryu, Beomdong-gun, Gangwon Province (North Korea) and finally flows to the West Sea. The extension of flow from the headspring to the downstream of Han River is 497.5km as the fourth longest river in the Korean Peninsula, following Aplok River, Duman River and Nakdong. Its area of basic is 26,219km², which occupies 27% of the area in the South Korea. Steamships started sailing in the Han River in 1888 and the railway between Seoul and Incheon was opened to traffic with the installation of a railway bridge in the Han River in 1900. The construction of embankments started thereafter while experiencing three times of disastrous floods in 1912, 1920 and 1925. Today’s Han River parks positioned as a resting arena for citizens in the center of city commenced its construction in 1982, and then the four-year construction was completed in 1986.
A Green Day of the Han River

am 6:00
The dawn of Han River rises with strong movements of people who keep their exercise in the morning. We can see people have the vitality in appearance as they start another day. The Han River presents the energy of nature to those people who breathe with the Han River earlier than others.

am 11:00
Parks around the Han River are full of live organism everywhere. You can hear children’s chatting voices in the experience school in parks around the Han River, where little kids enter hands in hands in lines. Flowers changing every season, green grass and well-arranged resting arena provide children with exciting playgrounds.

The Han River as the multiplex cultural space in the urban center with recreation, sports, leisure, culture and education is not just a resting arena to citizens in Seoul.
pm 1:00
The Han River never sleeps at night. There are such endless activities as lovers' whispers, family's laughter and friends' conversations. Various amusements and special events as many as night views over the Han River are shining at night all the more.

pm 6:40
The sunset of Han River presents a beautiful landscape. Cars are on their way back to home over bridges connecting both sides of Han River. Citizens tired of daily hustle and bustle regain their energy to bring pieces together for a day while looking at the sunset of Han River.

pm 8:30
The Han River never sleeps at night. There are such endless activities as lovers' whispers, family's laughter and friends' conversations. Various amusements and special events as many as night views over the Han River are shining at night all the more.
Restructuring the Urban Space around the Han River
The landscape of Seoul is changing around the Han River. The urban structure of space is planned to be restructured so that the Han River located in the center of Seoul might not just a boundary between the north and south of the river, but might give another birth not only to the space of integration but to the infrastructure of momentum for the future growth.

Waterfront Town Development
An energetic and nice water front is born. A waterfront-type complex space is shown in direct link with water along the change of land use including redevelopments on the background areas of urban space along the Han River.

Landscape Improvements along the Han River
The landscape of Han River and waterfront become more beautiful. The Han River is planned to change to the attractive space through the systematic lighting plans to include the inside and outside of the river along with the institutional management of landscape for architectures alongside the Han River.

The Han River Renaissance Project is a long-term project to be carried out from 2007 to 2030 in progress with eight great challenges including; restructuring the urban space around the Han River, waterfront town development, landscape improvements around the Han River, navigational infrastructure development in link with the west coast, eco-network construction around the Han River, improvements of access to the Han River, strengthening relations with historical relics around the Han River, and the Han River parks development under themes. The Han River is changing now.
Navigational Infrastructure Development in Link with the West Coast
The growth momentum of Seoul is created with the recovery of waterway to the west coast. By preparing faithfully for the future of Seoul as a 'port city' through the opening of the closed waterway to the West Sea, Seoul has plans to develop the growth momentum toward the world first-class city while developing the infrastructure of economy, peace and cooperation between the South and North.

Improvements of Access to the Han River
The Han River is getting closer to citizens. With the fundamental change of approach to the Han River from the current underground passages to the green pedestrian passages on the ground, the existing environment of access is greatly improved with the reinforced connectivity to the public transportation including buses and subways around the Han River.

Eco-Network Construction around the Han River
The Han River is revived as a space with breathing with life. The nature of the whole Han River is recovered and the Han River is changed into a health river with live and breathing organisms around the river by constructing the ecological network around all the directional points and broadening the linking extensions of those ecological bases including branch streams and joint streams.

Strengthening Relations with Historical Relics around the Han River
Historical relics around the Han River can be experienced in more diverse ways. Historical relics around the Han River are planned to be connected with each other for educating history and culture through developing the space of experience.

The Han River Parks Development under Themes
The Han River parks give another birth to a symbol of Seoul. Considering the land use of backgrounds with 12 parks around the Han River, we plan to change the Han River to the high-quality space of culture matching with each theme.
‘The Han River Renaissance Project’ is a project to suggest the future vision of more advancement for citizens through major challenges to establish and practice goals by field under a keynote of recovery and creation. This Han River Park is newly created to more advanced cultural space of waterfront by melting down the urban and cultural characteristics of backgrounds from a simple concept of a waterfront resting arena.

Banpo Han River Park
27 April 2009
A bridge park is developed to connect the north and south of Han River around Jamsu Bridge.

Ddukseom Han River Park
September 2009
An amusement park is developed with the characteristics of a resort in memory of old times.

Yeouido Han River Park
September 2009
A business park is created again in link with central business functions for Yeouido.

Nanji Han River Park
September 2009
An eco-friendly park is created under themes of ecology and renewable energy in link with the ecological and cultural resources.
Banpo Han River Park \ The redevelopment project of Han River parks was initialized along with the project to arrange Jamsu Bridge starting with the rainbow water fountain in moonlight over Banpo Bridge. The rainbow water fountain in 1.2km was installed both sides of Banpo Bridge where vehicles are running, which was registered for Guinness Book as the longest water fountain on a bridge in the world. Spaces for view and rest are developed to appreciate cool water drops of the fountain on Banpo Bridge. Lanes for cars on Jamsu Bridge under Banpo Bridge are reduced from the existing four lanes to two lanes, and the other two lanes are used as a road exclusive for pedestrians or bicycles.

Ddukseom Han River Park \ There are various components including recreational spaces and natural waterlines such as music fountains, swimming pools around the year between Yeongdong Bridge and Jamsil Bridge. Ddukseom Han River Park also has waterfront stages as an eco-friendly waterfront space created again on the basis of ecological restorations. The waterfront stage is planned to incorporate various cultural activities including large cultural events, outdoor performance, movie projections, etc. along with exotic music fountain shows.

Yeouido Han River Park \ Yacht marinas (90 boats), water light plazas, metropolitan passenger wharves, water-friendly terraces and waterfront esplanades among others are developed. Yacht anchorage facilities are installed around junctions of Han River and branch streams, and metropolitan passenger wharves are planned with the installation of linkage between Yeouido International Finance and Business District. Water light plazas are arranged as natural lakesides with soft slopes to the extent that children can play around water. In addition, areas around branch streams in Yeouido are developed to willow culture districts, water quality wetlands and natural lakesides through restorations.

Nanji Han River Park \ In order to change into an eco-friendly park, Nanji Han River Park is developed to the world-level ecological theme park through improvements on access and expansions of ecological wetlands, etc. New grounds are planned for the cultural environment for the western areas of the river by vitalizing the leisure space including inline skate rinks, camping sites, water plazas, yacht marinas, etc.
The Han River is a treasure of relaxation. It gives places to anyone only with a mat without any other preparation. Feel special excitements in the Han River as a space to visit often in addition to a place to stay and enjoy, not just as the Han River where you just pass by on your way to come and go.
Han River parks are eco-friendly spaces to fully enjoy the nature around four seasons in the center of Seoul. The nature around the Han River presents you the open view in balance with the river and sky that you have never seen in any other city across the world. You may meet richer nature as there are flower gardens, nature learning arenas and ecological parks developed in the parks.

Spring
Cherry blossoms (Yeouido), rape flowers and barley, roses (Yanghwa)

Summer
Sunflowers (Banpo)

Autumn
Cosmos (Yanghwa), pampas grass (Gwangnaru, Jamwon, Ichon)

Winter
Bamseom Bird Observatory Stand (Yeouido), bird-watch, bird-watch on a sightseeing boat (Yeouido), aquatic tour call taxi (Yeouido)
Flower Heaven Blossoming Around Four Seasons

Han River parks tell you how to distinguish the season with flowers. While people are taking a stroll in the park, flowers make them irresistible saying an exclamation while they are passing by around those flowers spread out in the flower gardens. Starting with rape flowers in the beginning of May to common reeds hardly seen in the center of city, the Han River stands for the flower heaven, as it were. It provides a place in which it could not be better to take picnics or pictures for family.

Ecological Parks and Nature Learning Place

There are nature learning arenas in the fields of parks around the Han River including Yeouido, Jamsil, Ddukseom, Jamwon and Ichon. Especially, Jamwon Silkworm Theme Learning Place is popular as a live educational field for children. Besides, there are ecological parks in branches around Yeouido, wetlands in the western riversides, Amsa-song riverside around the Han River and Godeok waterfront to preserve and observe the natural landscape using wetlands for the observatory stands of nature for children.

Resting Places for Migratory Birds

The Han River becomes a transit station for migratory birds with the preserved ecosystem. You can easily see summer and winter migratory birds resting in turn around Bamseom, Gangseo wetland and Godeok waterfront restoration arena. Children can get a great deal of help in learning the ecosystem as they can have descriptions in detail on the ecosystem while observing migratory birds with a telescope.

Jamsil Space of Experience to Enjoy Together with Family

It is located between Sungnae Stream and the center of Yeongdong Bridge. This place is activated with exercises in the life with larger sports and leisure facilities than any other place, as it is near to Jamsil Stadium, Lotte World and Olympic Park. You may see new appearance in the ecological environment with weirs and fish ways.

How to Enjoy Yourself inside the Park

Fish Way in the Jamsil Weir \ It is a fish way for fishes with abilities not enough to jump and go up against the stream because of high stairs in the weir. It is the nature learning arena to watch groups of fishes in 4.0m width and 228m length during their breeding season.

Nature Learning Arena \ You may appreciate our native flowers including windflowers, Astilbe chinensis, plum blossoms, etc. As its size is somewhat large, you may appreciate various flowers by district and lookouts in the natural learning arena are good enough to make you feel the rural landscape.

How to Enjoy Yourself outside the Park

Seokchon Lake \ It is a constructed lake located in Songpa District from a ten minute walk from the Jamsil Park, which is also called ‘Songpanaru Park’. This place used to be a prosperous place with Songpa Market in the late Chosun Kingdom with one of our famous folk plays called ‘Songpasandaenori’. It is good to enjoy your intimate time in the esplanade arranged along the lake.

Ddukseom  Place in Balance with Byukcheon Water Fountain and Night Views

It is a famous place as a riverside resort before Han River parks are developed. Vivid activities are done with water sports including wind surfing, water ski, motorboat, etc. with which the romance and youth can be enjoyed fully while you are facing the cool wind along the river.

How to Enjoy Yourself inside the Park

Arboretum  There are narrow trails among dense trees. You may feel the sense of coolness and cleanliness with planting 210 varieties and about 37,000 of trees, plants, flowers, rhizocarp, herbs, etc.

Byukcheon Field  It becomes spaces not only for leveports but for the resting space with artificial cliffs, children playgrounds, X-game fields and lawn grounds among others, which can be enjoyed by professional climbers as well as novices along Byukcheon Water Fountain proud of cool flows of water in 3600m².

Nature Learning Arena  Ddukseom Nature Learning Arena provides us with unique attractions by developing esplanades for visitors, as well as by planting various varieties of trees and plants inhabited along the riverside of Han River.

Preview Changes in the Park

Spanworm  As will be constructed in Ddukseom Han River Park, its outstanding look is expected to attract all visitors. This is precisely because its form is similar to the real spanworm, whose body is thin, long and cylindrical, and proudly exhibits its magnificent size: 240m in length and 1,931m² in area. All citizens including the disabled can easily enter into the park via this and there will be a lookout, gallery and book café, and many inside ‘Spanworm’.

Four-Seasonal Swimming Pools  Cafeteria for spring and autumn, swimming pools and runoff pools in summer, and ice sled fields in winter are developed as the open spaces around four seasons.

Riverside Stage  It is possible to look to the water of Han River with slow slopes to the waterfront in about 32,530m². Music water fountain is also featured with music in 26m diameter and 15m height as spaces for various cultural activities including large-scale cultural event fields, outdoor performances, outdoor move featuring, etc.
